Manu, Gita, Shreya and Rohan lived in Nehru Apartments. Summer vacation had begun and the children were bored. Manu had an idea. "Why don't we start a Book Club?" he said. The children brought their old storybooks and comics from home, and decided to exchange them amongst themselves. Each child could borrow a book for a week. A child who did not return the book on time would have to pay a fine of one rupee. Soon, other children wanted to join the club.
